

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A saturating shifter is provided which operates to detect in parallel with a shifting operation whether the result of that shifting operation will require saturating. If 5 saturation is required, then the necessary saturating mask may be determined earlier and accordingly processing speed increased.

[Figure 2]